ST. LOUIS - The Sheldon Concert Hall and KDHX come together once again to host the 4th Annual St. Louis Folk & Roots Festival September 25-27, 2015 in Grand Center.

St. Louis' premier folk festival will bring national and regional artists to St. Louis for a blend of old-time, bluegrass, country and folk music. The festival kicks off Friday night with a Ballroom concert at The Sheldon with The Tillers, Blind Boy Paxton and Anna & Elizabeth. The Cincinnati based band The Tillers bring a high-intensity, percussive style to traditional bluegrass favorites. They are joined by special guests Blind Boy Paxton, a modern day songster who has been described as the living embodiment of a true old-time bluesman. Opening act Anna & Elizabeth bring a captivating mix of ballads, foot-stomping dance tunes, stories and visual art to the stage.

The music continues Saturday night with festival headliner, the Sam Bush Band. Grammy Award winning multi-instrumentalist Sam Bush has reigned as one of bluegrass music's most revered string players for over 30 years. Co-founder of the genre-bending New Grass Revival, Bush is an in-demand musician who has played with everyone from Emmylou Harris and Béla Fleck to Lyle Lovett and Garth Brooks. Special guests Finnders & Youngberg bring the classic songs of country swing and bluegrass into the 21st century with a contemporary take on timeless sounds.

Additional festival activities will include a late-night Friday concert and Saturday night after-party at The Stage @ KDHX, Saturday daytime workshops and square dance, and the 5th Annual Fiddle Contest on Sunday at The Stage @ KDHX.
