ST. LOUIS — Acclaimed saxophonist/clarinetist Victor Goines returns to The Sheldon, with special guests, The Sheldon's North County Big Band, led by Harvey Lockhart of Riverview Gardens High School. The concert celebrates the end of the fall semester for this all-star big band, made up of students from several St. Louis area high schools, including Riverview Gardens, Normandy, Hazelwood Central, Central Visual and Performing Arts and University City. The big band will open the concert, followed by a set featuring the Victor Goines Quartet with Adam Maness on piano, Jahmal Nichols on bass and Montez Coleman on drums.

Victor Goines is widely recognized as one of the most engaging and versatile performers, composers, collaborators and educators in music today. A member of the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra since 1993, Goines also has an active solo career, performing and recording with the Victor Goines Quartet. In addition to his solo releases, he has performed and collaborated with artists such as The Wynton Marsalis Septet, Marcus Roberts and the Academy of Ascension, Dizzy Gillespie, Lionel Hampton, Diana Krall, Dianne Reeves, Bo Didley, James Moody and a host of other renowned musicians and ensembles.

Deeply committed to the field of jazz education, Goines currently holds the position of Northwestern University Artistic Director for the Jazz Studies program and Education Consultant for Jazz at Lincoln Center, and has conducted master classes, clinics, workshops, lectures and lessons for numerous universities, organizations and performing arts centers while touring with the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra.
